Certification of Deaths.—Information was obtained in 1912 as to the persons by whom the 52,177 deaths which occurred in the Commonwealth were certified. The result of the enquiry shows that approximately 88.1 per cent. (in 1910, 88.1 per cent., and in 1911, 88.2 per cent.) were certified by medical practitioners, and 10.9 per cent. (in 1910, 11.1 per cent., and in 1911, 10.9 per cent.) by coroners after inquests, or magisterial enquiries, while in 1.0 per cent. (in 1910, 0.8 per cent., and in 1911, 0.9 per cent.) of the cases there was either no certificate given, or particulars were not forthcoming.

The Australasian Trained Nurses' Association was founded in Sydney in 1899, Dr. F. Norton Manning being the first President, Dr. A. E. Mills and Miss McGahey the Joint Hon. Secretaries, and Sir James Fairfax the Hon. Treasurer. The object of the Association was to secure a high and uniform standard of training for nurses throughout the State, and ultimately throughout Australia, and to promote the interests of trained nurses in all matters affecting their work as a class. Membership of such an Association would be a guarantee to the public of a certain definite training.

The Association registers General, Obsteric, and Mental nurses, and is governed by a Council elected annually by members, and consisting of medical men and women, and nurses on the general, obstetric, and mental register. The regulations of the Association govern the standard of general education to be required of candidates for training, the scope and length of training for nurses, their examination and registration on completion of training, the conditions under which hospitals may become training schools; and the terms under which members of similar Associations in other countries may become members of the A.T.N.A. The final examinations are held half-yearly throughout the affiliated States. The passing of this examination is an essential to registration.

Branches of the Association were formed in Queensland in 1904, in South Australia in 1905, in West Australia in 1907, and in Tasmania in 1909. Each State is governed by its own Council working under the general rules of the Association, and the final examination for membership is the same for all States and is held simultaneously in all centres. In addition to the States enumerated, the Colonial Hospital, Fiji, trains under the rules of the Association. Reciprocal agreements are in force with the Royal Victorian Trained Nurses' Association, and the Hospitals' Department which governs the State registration of nurses in New Zealand.

The training for general nurses takes from three to five years, according to the daily average of occupied beds in the Training School, the smaller hospitals having to train for the longer period. The time of training for obstetric nurses is 12 months; certificated general nurses may qualify in this additional training in six months. The time of training for mental nurses is three years; certificated general nurses may take this addition training in two years.

The Association publishes a monthly journal, the "Australasian Nurses' Journal," and every second year issues a Register of Members, a book which contains the names of practically every trained nurse in New South Wales, Queensland, West Australia, South Australia, Tasmania, and Fiji.

POLICE MEDICAL BOARD.

This Board is appointed under the Police Regulation Act 1890, No. 1,127. The duties of the Board are to examine such members of the force as may be sent before them. A strict professional examination is made of each individual. Upon the Board's report the Police Superannuation Board (which see) are guided in their determination whether the persons so examined are "entitled," or otherwise, to retire from the force. This is an important and delicate duty, inasmuch as cases of malingering, etc., may arise. Practically, under sections 21, 22 and 23 of the Act, much responsibility is thrown on the Board, as payments from public funds rests on their medical opinion. Board meets as required at Government Buildings, Spring Street.

Members—Dr. James V. McCreery, J. A. O'Brien, and Louis Henry. Secretary—A. E. Parker.

POLICE SUPERANNUATION BOARD.

This Board is appointed under section 35 of the Police Regulation Act of 1890. The Board considers and determines upon all applications for gratuities or pensions for members of the force, or from their executors or next of kin, submitted to it by the Chief Commissioner of Police. The Board's reports are made to the Chief Secretary: and its decision, after approval by the Governor-in-Council, is final and conclusive. Board meets as required in Under-Secretary's room, Government Building, Spring Street.

Members: Chairman—W. A. Callaway (Under-Secretary), M. A. Minogue (Under-Treasurer), and G. W. Fyfe. Secretary—A. E. Parker.

HOSPITALS.THE MELBOURNE HOSPITAL.

(Founded in 1846.)

(Lonsdale Street, Melbourne.)

The largest general hospital in Victoria, the principal clinical hospital for the Medical School of the Melbourne University, and the principal training school in connection with the Royal Victorian Trained Nurses' Association.

The medical staff consists of three consulting surgeons, five in-physicians, five in-surgeons, six out-physicians, five out-surgeons, ophthalmologist, gynaecologist, medical officer for diseases of the ear, nose and throat, and dermatologist; also the following specialists:—Pathologist, senior assistant pathologist, anaesthetist, two senior assistant anaesthetists, skiagraphist, and medical electrician; and the following honorary medical officers:—Sub-director of pathology, two junior assistant pathologists, three assistant anaesthetists, one medical electrician, ten medical clinical assistants, six surgical clinical assistants, two clinical assistants to ophthalmologist, a clinical assistant to dermatologist, a clinical assistant to officer for diseases of ear, nose and throat, and a clinical assistant to gynaecologist. There are, in addition, an honorary dentist and a massage staff.

There are 350 beds in the wards. The records show that since the founding of the hospital 238,661 in-patients and 1,001,954 out-patients have received treatment. In-patients and out-patients are required to contribute according to their means. No patient, however, is refused treatment because of his inability to contribute towards his maintenance, and no distinction is made in the treatment of patients. The casualty ward is open day and night.

Each in-patient is provided with two tickets for the admission of visitors on Wednesdays and Sundays, between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

THE MEDICAL BOARD OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

(Chief Secretary's Department.)

President—Alfred A. Lendon, M.D.

Members—Alexander Disney Leith Napier, M.D., F.R.S., Richard S. Rogers, M.A., M.D.; Jas. Alex. Greer Hamilton, B.A., M.B.; Wm. Alfred Verco, M.B., B.S.; Marcell Carl von Lukowitz, M.D.

Secretary—Charles Medlyn, J.P., Adelaide Hospital.

The Board meets at the Adelaide Hospital on the second Thursday in every month at 4 p.m. Persons who wish to be registered as medical practitioners in South Australia, must give to the Secretary at least three days' notice of their intention to apply at any particular Board Meeting. They must submit their diplomas for the inspection of the Board, and produce a statutory declaration—signed before a Justice of the Peace—to the effect that they are the persons whose names appear on the diplomas. The fee for registration is £1 is. The question as to whether the applicant for registration should attend the Board meeting in person or not, is left to the discretion of the Board, but unless the members of the Board are personally acquainted with the applicant he is invariably requested to be present. A list of registered medical practitioners is published in the Government Gazette, in pamphlet form, in January of each year, and supplementary lists are published in the Gazette and the daily papers after each Board meeting during the year. All information may be obtained from the Secretary.

Medical practitioners, who desire to be registered in South Australia, have to prove that they possess one or other of the following qualifications:—

1. Any qualification entitling the holder to be registered in the United Kingdom under the Act of Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the 21st and 22nd year of Her Majesty, c. 90, or any amendment thereof.
2. Doctor, or Bachelor of Medicine, or holder of a medical degree of any University in Australasia authorised to grant such degree.
3. The holder of any medical degree, diploma or licence to practise, granted by any university, college, or licensing body, of any British colony or possession, or by any foreign university, college, or licensing body, and which in the opinion of the Medical Board is equal to the qualification entitling the holder to be registered in the United Kingdom under the Act of the Imperial Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, passed in the 21st and 22nd years of the reign of Queen Victoria, c. 90, or any Acts amending the same.

Any person who proves to the satisfaction of the Medical Board that he has passed through a regular graded course of medical study of not less than four years' duration in a British or foreign school of medicine, and has received after due examination from such college, school, or university, or body duly recognised for that purpose in the country to which such institution may belong, a medical diploma or degree certifying to his ability to practise medicine or surgery, as the case may be.

THE MEDICAL ACTS.

COLLATED BY A. C. BAXTER-BRUCE, B.A., LL.B., MEMBER OF THE NEW SOUTH WALES BAR.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.—When upon the holding of an inquest upon any dead body it appears that the deceased was attended at his death or during his last illness by any legally qualified medical practitioner, the Coroner may summon such medical practitioner as a witness at the inquest, and if the deceased person was not at or immediately before his death attended by a legally qualified medical practitioner the Coroner may summon any legally qualified medical practitioner in or near the place where the death happened; and the Coroner may either in his summons or at any time before the termination of the inquest direct a post-mortem examination to be made by the medical witness summoned. But if any person shall state on oath before the Coroner that in his belief death was caused either partly or entirely by the improper or negligent treatment of any medical practitioner or other person such medical practitioner or other person shall not be allowed to perform or assist at the examination.

ADDITIONAL MEDICAL EVIDENCE.—Whenever it appears to a majority of the jury that the death is not satisfactorily explained by the evidence of the medical practitioner or other witnesses, such majority may state to the Coroner in writing the name of any other legally qualified medical practitioner at or near the place where the death happened, and require the Coroner to summon such medical practitioner as a witness for a performance of a post-mortem examination, whether such examination shall already have been performed or not, and if the Coroner refuses or neglects so to do he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour.

REMUNERATION.—Whenever a legally qualified medical practitioner has attended an inquest in obedience to a summons issued by the Coroner for such attendance, he shall be entitled to receive the fee of One Guinea, and in addition for a post-mortem examination Two Guineas. Also in addition he shall be entitled to receive two shillings (2s.) for every mile (one way) which he shall have been obliged to travel beyond the first five miles from his usual abode for the purpose of attending at the inquest, and if there is an adjournment and the medical witness be required to attend thereat, he shall in addition receive One guinea for each day's attendance and mileage as above in case he shall have been obliged to travel in consequence of such adjournment, and the Coroner shall sign an order authorising the payment of such remuneration, and payment shall be made by the Treasurer out of the public revenue of the said province. But no order for payment shall be given and no remuneration paid to any medical practitioner for the performance of a post-mortem examination instituted without the direction of the Coroner.

When any inquest is held on the body of a person dying in any public gaol, hospital or infirmary or in any building belonging thereto or used for the reception of the patients therefrom, or who has died in any lunatic asylum or other public medical institution, whether the same be or be not wholly or in part supported by the Government of the said province, then and in such case nothing herein contained shall be construed to entitle the medical officer of such institution to any fee or remuneration.

THE MEDICAL ACT (1844 AND 1880).

MEDICAL BOARD.—The Governor shall appoint a Board, consisting of not less than three members, being of the medical profession, one of whom shall be nominated president, together with a secretary, under the style and description of "The South Australian Medical Board"; and any person desirous of being declared a legally qualified Medical Practitioner, as aforesaid, shall submit his degree, diploma, certificate, or other proof, for the examination and approval of the said Medical Board and shall obtain from the said Medical Board a certificate of his being a legally qualified Medical Practitioner, and for every such certificate there shall be paid to the president of the said Medical Board the sum of one guinea.

WHO SHALL BE DEEMED A LEGALLY QUALIFIED MEDICAL PRACTITIONER.—No person shall be deemed to be a legally qualified Medical Practitioner unless such person shall have proved to the satisfaction of the majority of the members present, not

Getting around this CD

Navigating Archive CD Books CDs

All Archive CD Books products can be navigated easily using the handy bookmarks on each CD. The table of contents in most original books, and the original book index where it exists, can provide additional ways of finding the information required.

Searching Text on Archive CD Books Australia CDs

Optical Character Recognition (OCR) technology has been developing over the years as a useful mechanism to convert images (as Archive CD Books pages are) into text which can be searched. The quality of the OCR can still vary, and hence the searchability can vary. Around 95% or 99% of the words in books with good type are searchable—or even higher with very good type.

OCR is now a wonderful searching aid in many instances but there is still no substitute for reading the book!

Different Versions of Adobe Acrobat Reader

Adobe Acrobat Reader 4 or later should be used. Adobe Reader 6 (as it is now named) in fact has considerably better searching options and is recommended.

- Acrobat Reader v4 has both a “Find” and a “Search” tool. Those tools are two totally different things. Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the FIND tool
- Acrobat Reader v5 has only a “Find” tool (not a “search” tool). Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the FIND tool.
- Adobe Reader v6 has only a “Search” tool (not a tool labelled “Find”). HOWEVER — what is called “Search” is the same as the tool that used to be called “Find” Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the SEARCH tool

Tips For Searching and Getting More From the CD Books

- update to Adobe Reader 6 for more versatile searching options, including the ability to bring up a list of all instances of the word you are searching for — across multiple files on a single CD in a single search request.
- enter the MINIMUM number of characters needed to bring up the search results required.
- use Adobe Reader 6 to do some trial searches to try to identify the characters that may be misread. These can show up in the extra text in the search results list (Adobe 6 only). A few minutes trial will help you to avoid using characters that are more prone to being misread, e.g. try entering “rederi” if you want “Frederick”, but find that the letters “F” “c” and “k” are sometimes misread.
- use the “Match whole word” option to eliminate unnecessary items in your results list, e.g. to eliminate all the blacksmiths and tinsmiths etc when you only want the name Smith.
- use the “Match case” option to eliminate all the occupations “smith” if you only want the name “Smith”.
- don’t just search for names. Search the book for other names, places and subjects of interest:
 - › look for others of the same name
 - › look for others who lived in the same place or street
 - › who was the postmaster or police officer in the town?
 - › how often and at what time did the coach arrive in town?
 - › what churches were there and what time were services held?
 - › what other activities were there in the community?
 - › look for others who had the same occupation or other interests
- all of this and more may be available in a seemingly mundane book such as a directory. You can learn much of the background of life at the time, even if your ancestor is not listed there.
- Many CDs have only one file, but some have the book content spread over several files. Adobe Reader normally searches in the file that is open at the time. If you wish to search ALL files at once choose the “All PDF documents in” option and select the CD drive or directory the files are in—Adobe Reader 6 only.

ADOBE ACROBAT SEARCHING IS A WONDERFUL FIRST FINDING AID.
BUT DO NOT RELY ON IT TO PICK UP ALL THE INFORMATION YOU WANT
