PLACES OF WORSHIP.

CHAPTER V.

The Church of England was the first denomination to hold religious services at Glen Osmond. The initiative was made by Mr. Osmond Gilles in a letter written by him to his solicitor, Mr. (afterwards Sir) James Hurtle Fisher, as follows:

"Glen Osmond, June 13, 1854.

"Dear Sir—I am extremely desirous of seeing something done to supply the spiritual necessities of the residents in this neighborhood and of the settlers dispersed over the Tiers. Feeling that this can be effectually done only by having placed here a resident clergyman, I beg you will submit the following proposal to the Dean of Adelaide.

"I offer three acres of land at Glen Osmond, near the Mount Barker-road, as a site for a Church and Parsonage, and stone and materials for both buildings. I am also ready to convey to trustees landed property, which shall be charged with one hundred and fifty pounds sterling (say £150) per annum towards the endowment for our clergyman, on the following conditions, namely: First, that the attorneys for the Leigh Fund give an undertaking to contribute £100 per annum in addition, to aid the endowment, for a period of fifteen years; and, secondly, that I have the right to make the first presentation to the appointment.

"I have, &c.,

"OSMOND GILLES."

"J. H. Fisher, Esq."

The Rev. F. C. Platts, who had been Incumbent of St. Andrew's Church, Walkerville, from 1851 to May, 1854, and officiating minister at St. George's, Woodforde, Magill, appears to have induced Mr. Gilles to nominate him for the appointment at Glen Osmond, for in August, 1854, an advertisement appears in "The S.A. Register" as follows: "Glen Osmond Church. The Mechanics' Institute at Glen Osmond having been, with the sanction of its proprietor, Mr. Arthur Hardy, devoted to the maintenance of the services by the Church of England until the erection of a church on a site at Glen Osmond granted by Mr. Osmond Gilles, notice is hereby given that service will commence in the Mechanics' Institute on Sunday next, September 3, at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., and be con-

MINES AND QUARRIES.

CHAPTER VII.

Glen Osmond was brought into prominent notice by its silver-lead mines and its building-stone quarries.

SILVER-LEAD MINES.

It is generally accepted that Glen Osmond has the oldest mines in Australia, and the writer is unable to disprove the statement, although he has made a careful examination of the various publications dealing with the early history of the other Australian States. An account of the discovery of the mines of Australia has yet to be written. When it does appear those around Glen Osmond will probably find a place in its opening chapter. In 1841 the first shipment of silver-lead ore appeared under "Exports," and its value is stated at £390. This ore was obtained from the Glen Osmond Mines.

The "Statistical Register" for the year 1845 contains the following reference to the mineral exports: "The discovery of valuable lodes of copper and lead in all parts of the country has imparted of late an entirely new character to this province. Being almost the only British colony containing valuable minerals in abundant quantity, and in situations convenient for export, its importance as a dependency of the British Crown is now second to none. It will be perceived that the value of ores exported in 1844 was £6,436, and in the first quarter of 1845 the exports of ore were valued at £7,425. New mines are continually discovered, the value of which may be estimated by the fact that while the best wild land for agricultural purposes produces no more than 30/ per acre, a section of 100 acres, containing copper lodes, lately sold by Government, by public auction, realised £2,100."

The first silver-lead discoveries were made in 1841, and Mr. F. S. Dutton, when recording the mines of South Australia in 1846, states that the "Wheal Gawler Lead Mine" was discovered first. Extracts from his work, "South Australia and its Mines," published in London in 1846, will be found later on in this chapter. No reliable information is available as to the output from the three lead mines of this neighborhood, "The Glen Osmond," "The Wheal Watkins," and "The Wheal Gawler," situated on Sections Nos. 295, 910, and 911 respec-

GARDENS AND VINEYARDS.

CHAPTER X.

The soil in and around Glen Osmond is noted for its fertility, particularly where the substratum is a red clay. The surface loam is easily worked, but is not so retentive of moisture as the clay, and this fact is soon ascertained by those who have purchased land which was trenched by the old method of turning the subsoil on the top, and placing the loam or surface soil in the bottom of the trench. Gardens thus treated are easily recognised in winter by the soft, tenacious nature of their surfaces and the difficulty of digging in winter. In most cases it would probably repay the owners to retrench the old gardens and replace, as far as possible, the soils in their original position.

At the Agricultural and Horticultural Shows between 1850 and 1860 the produce of the gardens in and contiguous to Glen Osmond gained many prizes. At the show of February 15, 1855, two prizes of £5 5s. each were awarded to Mr. J. G. Hoffmann for the best samples of red and white wine from grapes grown in Ridge Park garden, then owned by Captain William Elder. At the same show, Mr. William Murray obtained the second prize for white grapes, and Mr. E. C. Homersham, of Eagle's Nest, a prize for the best dish of raspberries. In Ridge Park gardens some thirty to forty years ago could be seen fruits of all climes and of great variety growing most luxuriantly, including loquats, cherries, plums, apricots, peaches, nectarines, almonds, figs, grapes, gooseberries, guavas, apples, pears, quinces, medlars, mulberries, pomegranates, oranges, lemons, limes, shaddock, and olives. Unfortunately, the garden has been neglected and destroyed by cattle, so that very few of the original trees now remain. Mr. W. H. Green has erected a residence, "Baroona," on the south side of the old garden. His grounds are planted with both ornamental and useful trees and handsome shrubs. A portion of his garden encroaches on the old orangery of Ridge Park.

The residence of His Grace Archbishop O'Reilly occupies the south-eastern corner of Ridge Park Estate. The site was formerly covered with almond and olive trees planted

LOCAL SOCIETIES.

CHAPTER XI.

The local Friendly Society, established in 1863, as a branch of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows, has, after the experience of forty years, more than confirmed the hopes and expectations of its founders. The large sum (£3,700) distributed by this Society as sick-pay, is a silent monitor to those who have made no provision against sickness, accident, or death. The formation of a Juvenile Branch in connection with the parent lodge was an excellent idea, and, as anticipated, it has proved a valuable auxiliary to the older Society, to which its members are admitted when the necessary age is reached.

The following particulars have been furnished by the Secretary, Mr. C. G. Langley :

LOYAL GLEN OSMOND LODGE, NO. 56, M.U.

LODGEROOM, VINE INN, GLEN OSMOND.

Meetings on alternate Tuesdays—7.30 to 9.30 p.m. in winter, 8 to 10 p.m. in summer.

This Lodge was founded on February 20, 1863, by seventeen members, of which eight still survive, viz., Messrs. Benjamin Atkinson, James Anderson, Thos. Fairbrother, Wm. Fairbrother, George Goldsack, John Langley, Richard Marshall, and G. H. J. Tucker. Mr. George Goldsack was the first Secretary, and Mr. John Langley the first Treasurer. The post of Secretary was filled by Mr. G. H. J. Tucker for thirty years, and Mr. C. G. Langley, the present Secretary, has held the position for the past ten years. Mr. J. H. Wiles has acted as Treasurer for the past twenty-one years. The first trustees were Messrs. B. Atkinson, Geo. Goldsack, T. Smith, T. Fairbrother, and Albert Grant. The present trustees are Messrs. Mark Goldsack (Chairman), Allin Brook, W. Badcock, R. J. Langham, and G. Phillips. The accumulated capital of the Lodge is about £2,000. The members number 166. The sum of £3,700 has been distributed by the Lodge as sick-pay since 1863. Weekly subscriptions, one shilling. Lodge Benevolent Fund subscription, sixpence half-yearly.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF HOUSEHOLDERS AND OLD RESIDENTS

OF GLEN OSMOND, WHO ARE LIVING AT THE DATE
OF THE PRESENT COMPILATION IN 1905.

Collected by W. H. Langham.

CHAPTER XIV.

Abbott, George Absalom, b. at Glen Osmond July 27, 1874, s. of Mr. Joseph Abbott, of Ashton. For 13 years has been employed on Wootton Lea Estate. Married d. of Mr. Charles Smith, of Wootton Lea.

Anderson, James, b. St. Monger-street, Glasgow. Arrived in Melbourne in H.M.S. "Buffalo" in the early forties. After a brief residence in Melbourne, came to S.A., and lived in the North. Revisited Victoria on the discovery of the goldfields, and returned to Adelaide about 1858. Was overseer of roads, and lived in the Old Tollbar house about twenty years. Now residing at St. Ann's Place, Parkside.

Armstrong, Francis, s. of Captain John Armstrong, 37th Regiment. B. at Tours, France, on January 28, 1836. Came to S.A. with his parents in "Brightman" in January, 1850. His father died whilst on a voyage to Melbourne in 1850. After his mother's marriage with Mr. Homersham resided for some time at "Eagle's Nest." Visited Victoria, and returned in 1872. Has resided here continuously since that date. M. daughter of Mrs. Prior. Has one daughter.

Atkinson, Benjamin, b. April 1, 1841. Came to Melbourne with his parents. Soon after arrival there his father died, and his mother returned to England. Was apprenticed as a blacksmith and wheelwright to the late Mr. Redman Goldsack, and for 40 years he followed this calling. Was Librarian to the G.O. Institute for over 20 years. He left the Glen in 1899, and now resides at Houghton.

Badcock, Frederick, b. at Caldecot, Cambridgeshire, England, May 28, 1830. Arrived per "Caroline" on May 1, 1855. Has resided in Glen Osmond for 50 years. For many years was employed by the family of the late Mr. Justice Boothby. He is one of the two surviving founders of the Rose of Sharon Lodge formed at Parkside about 46 years ago. His residence was formerly the public school house, also used as the Institute, and before the erection of St. Saviour's Church, the Church services were conducted there. Is a widower.

Badcock, William, b. Glen Osmond 13th August, 1857. Married d. of Mr. James Trowbridge. Was one of the quarrymen who competed in the digging match for excavating the foundations of the present Institute building in 1876.

OBITUARY OF PIONEERS &c., OF GLEN OSMOND.

(ARRANGED ALPHABETICALLY).

CHAPTER XV.

BOOTHBY, Benjamin, second Judge of the Supreme Court of S.A., 1853 to 1867. S. of Mr. Benjamin Boothby. B. at Doncaster, Yorkshire, England, on February 5, 1803. Called to the bar at Gray's Inn, 1825. Revising barrister for the West Riding of Yorkshire, and Recorder of Pontefract, 1853. Mr. Justice Boothby, shortly after his arrival in S.A., purchased the estate known as "The Glen," and resided there until his decease on June 21, 1868. Members of the family were closely associated with the promotion and conduct of various institutions for the social and material welfare of the neighborhood. In 1854 Mr. Boothby advocated the construction of an intercolonial railway from Adelaide to Melbourne and Sydney (vide par. paper No. 24 of 1854). In January, 1855, he also advocated in the columns of the "Adelaide Observer" quicker communication with Europe. The leading features of his plan were—(1) A monthly mail; (2) an overland route; (3) a reduced postage; (4) a Federal Union of the three colonies of N.S.W. (Queensland then being included in N.S.W.), Victoria, and S.A. for the purposes of the movement, the scheme to include a fleet of powerful ocean steamers, their joint property. His family consisted of eight sons and four daughters—Wm. R. Boothby, C.M.G., Benjamin Boothby, C.E., Joseph G. Boothby, J.P., George Boothby, Josiah Boothby, C.M.G., Thos. W. Boothby, M.P., James Henry Boothby, Frederick Boothby; Mrs. Lethem, Miss E. L. Boothby, Mrs. A. W. Howitt, and Mrs. Burke. Two sons, Josiah and James, and two daughters, Miss E. L. Boothby and Mrs. R. G. Burke, are still living.

BOWEN, Robert, s. of late Mr. Robert G. Bowen, builder, Adelaide. B. at London on June 21, 1838. Was a member of the G.O. Institute Committee for some years, and Superintendent of the Union Sunday School at G.O. Built the present store and Post Office at G.O. D. at G.O. on May 27, 1878, and was buried in the West-terrace Cemetery. Mrs. B., three sons, and five daughters, reside in this State.

BREAKELL, Thomas Frederick, b. in 1829 in Manchester. Arrived in South Australia in 1851. Visited the Victorian goldfields in 1852. Returned to Adelaide and resided at Glen Osmond, where he always took a deep interest in public affairs. He was for 34 years in the employ of Messrs. Joseph Stilling & Co., merchants and ship agents of Adelaide. Mr. Breakell took a very keen interest in the gold mining industry, and was sanguine that S. Australia would eventually become a large gold-producing State. Was a President of the Glen Osmond Institute, and churchwarden of St. Saviour's Church. He d. at Brighton in 1885. Mrs. Breakell is still living.

BROOK, Jonathan, b. at Holmfirth, Yorkshire, September 29, 1817. Arrived in S.A. per "Steadfast," November 10, 1852. First resided at Kapunda and visited the Victorian goldfields, returning to Kapunda. Came to the Glen in 1854, where he practically resided until his decease on April 16, 1899. Opened up several quarries in the neighborhood. Mrs. Brook is still living.

Getting around this CD

Navigating Archive CD Books CDs

All Archive CD Books products can be navigated easily using the handy bookmarks on each CD. The table of contents in most original books, and the original book index where it exists, can provide additional ways of finding the information required.

Searching Text on Archive CD Books Australia CDs

Optical Character Recognition (OCR) technology has been developing over the years as a useful mechanism to convert images (as Archive CD Books pages are) into text which can be searched. The quality of the OCR can still vary, and hence the searchability can vary. Around 95% or 99% of the words in books with good type are searchable—or even higher with very good type.

OCR is now a wonderful searching aid in many instances but there is still no substitute for reading the book!

Different Versions of Adobe Acrobat Reader

Adobe Acrobat Reader 4 or later should be used. Adobe Reader 6 (as it is now named) in fact has considerably better searching options and is recommended.

- Acrobat Reader v4 has both a “Find” and a “Search” tool. Those tools are two totally different things. Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the FIND tool
- Acrobat Reader v5 has only a “Find” tool (not a “search” tool). Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the FIND tool.
- Adobe Reader v6 has only a “Search” tool (not a tool labelled “Find”). HOWEVER — what is called “Search” is the same as the tool that used to be called “Find” Our CDs (that are searchable) work with the SEARCH tool

Tips For Searching and Getting More From the CD Books

- update to Adobe Reader 6 for more versatile searching options, including the ability to bring up a list of all instances of the word you are searching for — across multiple files on a single CD in a single search request.
- enter the MINIMUM number of characters needed to bring up the search results required.
- use Adobe Reader 6 to do some trial searches to try to identify the characters that may be misread. These can show up in the extra text in the search results list (Adobe 6 only). A few minutes trial will help you to avoid using characters that are more prone to being misread, e.g. try entering “rederi” if you want “Frederick”, but find that the letters “F” “c” and “k” are sometimes misread.
- use the “Match whole word” option to eliminate unnecessary items in your results list, e.g. to eliminate all the blacksmiths and tinsmiths etc when you only want the name Smith.
- use the “Match case” option to eliminate all the occupations “smith” if you only want the name “Smith”.
- don’t just search for names. Search the book for other names, places and subjects of interest:
 - › look for others of the same name
 - › look for others who lived in the same place or street
 - › who was the postmaster or police officer in the town?
 - › how often and at what time did the coach arrive in town?
 - › what churches were there and what time were services held?
 - › what other activities were there in the community?
 - › look for others who had the same occupation or other interests
- all of this and more may be available in a seemingly mundane book such as a directory. You can learn much of the background of life at the time, even if your ancestor is not listed there.
- Many CDs have only one file, but some have the book content spread over several files. Adobe Reader normally searches in the file that is open at the time. If you wish to search ALL files at once choose the “All PDF documents in” option and select the CD drive or directory the files are in—Adobe Reader 6 only.

ADOBE ACROBAT SEARCHING IS A WONDERFUL FIRST FINDING AID.
BUT DO NOT RELY ON IT TO PICK UP ALL THE INFORMATION YOU WANT
